Randy Farden wrote "Beautiful Kauai" at a hotel on the Garden Isle in 1967. It became a hit the following year after Don Ho recorded it and later became a hula standard thanks to Kawai Cockett and the Lei Kukui Serenaders. "The song was inspired by the fantastic view of Hanalei Valley, Mount Nomolo Kama and the bay he saw from his hotel window," said Tony Todaro, in his book Golden Years of Hawaiian Entertainment. Farden was born in Honolulu but grew up in Waianae. He is a member of one of Hawaii's most accomplished musical families. Irmgard Farden Aluli is his aunt.
